

C. Fong Hsiung

Bio

Fong Hsiung is the author of Alfie, a short story published by Life Rattle Press. She is a wife, mother, accountant and, now, writer. The eldest of five children, she was born to Hakka Chinese parents in Kolkata, India. At eighteen, she immigrated to Canada where she married and raised three sons. Hsiung returned to school after her first child was born and by the time she was thirty earned an accounting designation. Ten years later, she added an executive master's degree in business administration to her resume.

Fong Hsiung now spends most of her free time writing, blogging, travelling and is a volunteer instructor for spinning, a form of studio cycling, at her local YMCA where she works out every day.
