

a couple of good reasons to wear a long skirt

you can cut part of your skirt off if you need a bandages, hair ties, jay cloths, a sling, rope, fishing line, shoe laces, a belt, a sack, kleenex, toilet paper, ear plugs, a hat, a protest sign, a flag, a towel, a trail marker, snares or dental floss. also if someone looses their loin cloth, you can whip one up out of your skirt, and still have ample skirt left over.

if you are in a big hurry and you aren't wearing underwear and you want to have sex with someone, it could save time.

if you want to masturbate, but you are in public, you could use your skirt as a tent.

if you're on the lake in your canoe and you drop your paddles and you forgot your whistle, and it's too far to reach the paddles, you could use your skirt as a sail to sail to shore.

if you are ice fishing and someone falls in the hole, you could use your skirt as a rescue rope to rescue them.

if some youth of the day steal the canadian flag from the flag pole outside the high school, they could fly your skirt until they buy a new flag.

if you need to attack a fort, you can get everyone together to play a fake a game of lacrosse with the shirts, and then when one of the skins throws the ball into the fort, and they open the gates to get it, you can take your weapons out from under your skirt and attack the british (tested and proven to work june 2nd, 1763 at fort michilimackinac).