

Salish Ancestors

You are the blood that flows
through the veins of grandmothers.

You are the blood that flows
through the veins of grandfathers.

You are the rivers that flow
down the mountains.

You are the inlets that flow
out to the oceans.

You are the winds
that sing the elders home.

You are the winds
that sing to the newborn.